

FIGHT FORECAST
ON EVOLUTION
TODAY AT MACON

Resolution "Against Limiting Courses of Study in Schools, Colleges" Heard by Teachers.

LEGISLATIVE PLAN
ADOPTED IN FULL

Jere A. Wells, Fulton School Head, Named President of Georgia Education Body.

Macon, Ga., April 15.—(P)—J. L. Fleming, young professor of Marietta, threw a monkey wrench into the well-oiled and smooth-running convention machinery at today's session of the Georgia Education association here, when he succeeded in reading before the delegates a resolution that was interpreted as committing the association to combating any attempt to bar the teaching of evolution in the public schools or colleges of the state.

The resolution was worded: "Resolved, that we go on record as against the limiting of the curriculum, the courses of study or any parts of them, in the schools or colleges of this state."

Mr. Fleming's resolution was referred to the committee on resolutions, which is to report tomorrow.

As a rule all resolutions are submitted to the committee on resolutions without being read into the convention. Mr. Fleming gained permission to read his resolution with the declaration: "I followed that course at the convention last year and although I was assured that this resolution would be reported on by the committee, no more was heard of it."

May Cause Fight.

There is no anti-evolution bill in this state at present, although it is reported there is a movement on foot to introduce such a measure in the coming session of the general assembly.

Many of the leaders in the convention declared after the incident that it is a matter which should not be brought to the convention floor, since there is certain to be bitter division of opinion and regardless of the action taken, have little effect on the fate of such a bill in the legislature.

Delegates in the main business session here today elected Jere Wells, of Atlanta, superintendent of Fulton county schools, as president for the ensuing year, and voted the entire legislative program as submitted by the committee last night. This program recommends larger appropriations for school work, for wiping out illiteracy, for the equalization fund, for a state-wide educational survey, revision of the state tax laws; establishment of higher minimum for school superintendents and strengthening of the compulsory school attendance law.

Other officers elected were Dean H. B. Richey, of the State Normal college, at Athens, as vice president; Superintendent R. L. Knox, of Jacon, as treasurer; State Supervisor J. O. Martin, of Covington, to the board of directors; the retiring and incoming presidents at the two delegates to the national convention at Seattle, Wash.

Superintendent Wells succeeds President Wells.

BISHOP BEAUCHAMP
IS SERIOUSLY ILL
IN HOSPITAL HERE

Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, of 183 Decatur road, in charge of the North and South Georgia conferences of the Southern Methodist church, is in Wesley Memorial hospital in a critical condition brought about from overwork and a generally run down system, according to members of his immediate family who have been summoned to the bedside.

Bishop Beauchamp was taken to the hospital on April 13, where attendants late Friday night reported his condition as "improving."

Home-Grown Vegetables
Are in the Market Now

It certainly does when the appetite now to glance in the windows of the groceries and markets, and see the array of home-grown vegetables—everything from strawberries to onions, and that is covering some latitude.

Of course we have had fresh vegetables all winter, but there is something better about the vegetables that are grown right at home.

Turn now to the advertisements of the groceries, markets and provision houses, and note the long list of food articles that are offered; also note how reasonably they are priced.

If you do your Saturday buying from the advertisements in The Constitution you are certain to have the lowest and last prices for the day.

National Biscuit
Buys Local Plant
Of Block Company

Erection of Huge New Plant Contemplated Here in Deal Involving Over $1,000,000.

$10,000,000 TRADE
SEEN FOR ATLANTA

Frank E. Block Company Sells Baking Plant and Real Estate to National Concern.

In a deal involving more than $1,000,000 and which contemplates the erection in Atlanta this summer of one of the largest baking plants in the world, the Frank E. Block company, of Atlanta has been purchased by the National Biscuit company. That company will carry out an expansion program which will quadruple the number of people employed now by the Block plant, it was announced Friday by Brooks Morgan.

Under the terms of the deal the National Biscuit company acquires on May 1 the factory and real estate of the Block company, located on West Hunter and Elliott streets. It will begin work as soon as the property is acquired in remodeling and expanding the present plant. Simultaneously with the announcement of the sale of the baking plant of the Block company Mr. Morgan announced that the candy business of the company will be continued by a new corporation of which he will be the head.

Interest in the purchase of the big local company by the National Biscuit company has been general over the southeast, rumors having been current for some time that negotiations looking to the purchase were under way. A number of big newspapers of the southeast have wired Atlanta frequently for confirmation of reports, but until Friday nothing definite was obtainable.

The National Biscuit company will enlarge the present Block plant and has acquired additional real estate adjacent to this plant for the erection of an eight-story unit which will be built on the same unit plans as the great factories of the company now located in New York. The company will serve ten southern states with the new plant and also will establish in Atlanta a distributing plant which will handle the products of the other plants of the company as well as the products of the new Atlanta plant.

"In a short time I expect the new factory to become the greatest business enterprise of any kind in Atlanta," Mr. Morgan said in announcing the consummation of the deal.

Last year the National Biscuit company did a business of more than $200,000,000 and it is conservatively estimated that the new Atlanta plant will do a business of $10,000,000.

CAMPBELL WOMAN,
100 YEARS OLD;
TAKEN BY DEATH

Fairburn, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) Mrs. Rebecca Smith, aged 100 years and 17 days, died today at her home near Union church, in Campbell county. Mrs. Smith had been in declining health for several weeks and her death was not unexpected.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret McWilliams, of Stone- wall, Ga., who is 80 years old, and a son, W. A. Smith, also of Stone- wall, who is 73 years old.

Mrs. Smith spent practically all of her life in Campbell county and was actively identified with the religious and civic affairs of her community. On account of her feeble condition she has been confined to her home of late years.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence near Union church. Rev. E. R. Smith will officiate. Interment will be in the family cemetery. W. M. Holsombeck, of Fairburn, funeral director, will be in charge.

Five Georgia and Two Florida Beauties Selected.

Atlanta, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) Five Georgia girls and two Floridians have been selected for the beauty contest of the Pandora, University of Georgia yearbook, by Cecile DeMille, moving picture producer, as follows:

Misses Julia Meador, Atlanta; Virginia White, Atlanta; Alice Carmichael, Atlanta; Miriam Purdon, Madison; Mattalene Jarome, Orlando, Fla.; Daisy Kemp, Miami, Fla.; and Miriam Wolff, Atlanta.

In his letter to John A. Long, Pandegress, editor of the Pandora, Mr. DeMille wrote: "Beauty is an elusive quality, difficult to register truthfully on a photographic plate. Personality, which can be but glimpsed in the eyes of the portrait subject, is a standard by which beauty is measured fully as much as by the shape and placing of features. Each of the winning contestants, however, had some particular quality or group of qualities which were brought out by the camera sufficient to lead to the selection." The 1927 volume of the Pandora is dedicated to Dr. Robert Preston Brooks, dean of the school of commerce.

MILLION OFFER
FOR BASEBALL
CLUB REFUSED

R. J. Spiller, Owner, Announces Offer But Says Atlanta Club Is "Not for Sale."

TY COBB SELECTED TO HEAD CRACKERS

In Event New York Syndicate Succeeded in Buying Club; Stallings Also Named.

Spurning a $1,000,000 cash offer made by a group of wealthy New York sportsmen for the franchise of the Atlanta baseball club, of the Southern association, together with the Lithia Springs near Austell, Ga., R. J. Spiller, owner of the club and the springs, announced Friday night that "the Atlanta baseball club is not for sale," and that he has no intention of placing either property on the market.

The admission by Spiller that $1,000,000 had been offered for the club and that it had been refused followed closely in the wake of a report circulated as having emanated from a reliable source and to the effect that George Stallings, new owner of the Rochester, N. Y., team of the International league, heads the group of New Yorkers who seek the Atlanta franchise; that the syndicate plans to build a million-dollar health resort at the Austell Lithia Springs, and to build a new ball park in the Williams street section of the sixth ward.

However, the deal said to involve Stallings, if over there was one pending, would doubtless have been discarded before last Tuesday when Stallings, with Walter B. Hapgood, his business manager, purchased the Rochester club, which team Stallings has been managing. Considering that he is part owner of the Rochester club, it appeared scarcely probable that he would carry through negotiations which, the unconfirmed report has it, he opened here.

When interviewed Friday night, Spiller declared that while it was true that the New York syndicate had proffered an offer of $1,000,000 for the franchise, with the Lithia Springs thrown in, it was nevertheless untrue that Stallings or Ty Cobb figured in the proposed deal. Cobb, it was said, was slated to manage the local club.

"I received an offer of $1,000,000 from the New York group but neither Stallings nor Cobb entered into the discussion whatsoever," he said. "I'm sorry that the name of Stallings was brought into the discussion at all. There's not a word of truth in that part of it."

"The syndicate intended to continue playing at the present park—I never saw it."

Easter Parade
Is Threatened
By Showers

Promenaders and Egg Hunters May Have To Seek Shelter.

Brother Rabbit's sister, the Easter bunny, may find an umbrella convenient when she comes to distribute her many-hued eggs in Atlanta Sunday, and churchgoers who blossom forth in brilliant array may be kept busy scanning the sky for trace of rain, and the street for trace of a taxicab.

C. F. von Herrmann, government meteorologist doesn't miss his official guess.

This pessimistic outlook was contained in Mr. von Herrmann's forecast issued late Friday, although the report does not specifically state that inopportune precipitation will cause the Easter eggs to fade or the promenaders to seek shelter.

"Continued unsettled weather over the week-end with slightly warmer temperatures; cloudy."

That's the way the forecast reads. Identical weather will prevail both Saturday and Sunday—unless it rains. Then it won't be quite so identical.

Today the temperature is expected to range between 60 and 75 degrees. Friday it hovered between 51, the minimum, and 66—which was slightly cooler than was expected on official "Straw-Hat" day. It didn't deter many folk from flashing new lids on the public, however, and there were lines formed in front of straw-hat counters in local stores.

"Of course, it may not rain Sunday at all," Mr. von Herrmann said in issuing the week-end forecast. "The clouds that are expected to waft about may behave and we may have as fine a day as you'd want. But then again—"

You takes your choice.

SWISS-RUSSIAN
PACT IS SIGNED

Long-Standing Controversy Over Assassination of Soviet Envoy in 1923 Is Settled.

Moscow, Russia, April 15.—(P)—The Soviet foreign office tonight announced the signing of an agreement today at Berlin, adjusting the long-standing controversy between Soviet Russia and Switzerland over the assassination of Vaslav Vorovsky, Soviet representative at the Lausanne conference in 1923.

The announcement said that Switzerland had expressed regret for the assassination of Vorovsky by Maurice Conrad, a Swiss engineer, who later was acquitted and for the wounding of Hermann Ahrens, Russian press representative and companion of Vorovsky at the time of the assassination.

The agreement, the foreign office announcement added, provided for monetary compensation of the family of the slain.

Ever since the assassination of Vaslav Vorovsky on Swiss soil in 1923 and the subsequent acquittal by a Swiss jury of Maurice Conrad, his slayer, the Soviet government has refused to accept invitations from the League of Nations to attend League conferences of any kind held in Switzerland.

The latest refusal on the part of Russia to send representatives to Swiss soil was its declaration to participate in the forthcoming international economic conference which will be held at Geneva. Announcement of this was made on January 24, of this year.

Lucid Moments Break
Prisoner's Delirium

BY ROSCOE SNIPES.

Greenville, S. C., April 15.—(United News.)—That delicately attuned human organ, the brain, has ceased to function normally in the body of Earl Carroll, and tonight the comparatively young man, who has staged a series of the country's most famous "girl shows," rested on the borderline of consciousness.

His overworked, overwrought mind had but moments during the day when thought seemed to travel in sane channels. At other times, the federal prisoner was delirious, mumbling softly. Again he lay on his hospital cot, limp as a rag, his eyes vacant.

He was well into his third 24 hours without nourishment except for a bit of orange juice, and injections of glucose early in the day. Danger, however, lay mostly in the inability of doctors to rouse Carroll from the comatose state he has been since Wednesday morning.

Dr. C. O. Bates and Dr. R. C. Bruce were attending him tonight; two other specialists having left for their out-of-town homes. Both Bates and Bruce tried shaking the patient, in an effort to get him to speak rationally, but failed.

Norman Carroll, a brother, came out of the sick room, to say he believed "Earl may become himself later on."

Once today the federal prisoner, sentenced to serve 366 days in the At-

MISSISSIPPI NIBBLES
LEVEES AS THOUSANDS OF MEN FRANTICALLY REIN-
FORCE DEFENSES.

New Orleans, April 15.—(P)—A five-inch rain drenched New Orleans and the lower Mississippi valley late today, adding to the high water hazard by soaking levees and slowing up the work of raising the river barriers.

The rains, which began shortly before noon, swept down with increasing fury at nightfall and two hours later scores of streets in the upper half of the Crescent bend made by the river, were flooded with water from two to ten inches deep.

Street car service was curtailed and hundreds of automobiles were left stranded in downtown streets, their motors drowned out.

At 8 p. m. the weather bureau reported a five-inch rainfall, and although the downpour had slackened it continued.

His giant framed gorged by melting snows and continued rains, the Father of Waters tonight continued his inexorable rise toward a height he had never previously attained, pushing lightly at man-made barriers as he moved languidly toward the Gulf of Mexico.

Frantic Crews Work.

His every movement stirred residents of the valley to strenuous efforts to restrain him. He flicked off portions of levees at Plaquemine and above that point, and threatened breach with sandbags. He tapped away the concrete facings of the levees at Port Allen, opposite Baton Rouge, and other sandbags were thrown into the cavity. He stretched but a little at other points above New Orleans and other crews were dispatched to strengthen the weak spots.

At Burien, College Point and Geismar on the east bank of the river crews were busy reinforcing the walls. At Donaldsonville similar activities were in progress and at various other points along the length of his path from Memphis to the sea, the barriers were being strengthened. Engineers at New Orleans continued to assert a belief that the levees in this vicinity would hold. At Esplanade avenue, however, 12 blocks below Canal street, in the center of the city, sandbags on a revetment already have been thrown into position to meet the emergency.

At that point the level of the water has reached within a few inches of the top of the levee and occasional waves from passing steamers or gusts of wind have been known to dislodge sandbags. The river yet has almost three feet to rise before it reaches the crest forecast today by a revised weather bureau prediction.

Safety Assured.

There was no fear for the safety of New Orleans, however. The levees protecting the city's river front have been reinforced and raised since the flood of 1922 and even should the river lap over the top of the levee in spots.

Gainesville Woman Wills Big Sum to Brenau, University of Georgia, and Her Sister.

Gainesville, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—An estate which originally totaled near a million dollars in value, it is estimated, is divided in the will of Mrs. J. H. Hunt, prominent Gainesville citizen, which was filed here today for probate with Ordinary Bennett. Date has not been set for probate.

Mrs. Hunt, philanthropist, church leader and special friend of Brenau college, died at her home here Tuesday night.

A sister, Mrs. Tabitha Shannon, of Lakeland, Fla., Brenau college and the University of Georgia are the principal beneficiaries of the estate, it is revealed. Five nieces and other persons also share in the estate.

Mrs. Hunt recently donated property valued at from $350,000 to $400,000 to Brenau college, which included valuable property on Peachtree street, near Tenth, in Atlanta. Of the Atlanta property, 60 per cent was recently bequeathed to Brenau and in the will the other 40 per cent is given to the local college friend of this estate, this amount being variously estimated at from $100,000 to $200,000.

The University of Georgia is also bequeathed 5,500 acres of land in north Georgia and will receive two-fifths of the local college's estate, this amount being the same as will be received by Brenau. The other one-fifth of the estate is willed by Mrs. Hunt to her sister, Mrs. Shannon, and to five nieces and other kinpeople are to receive cash bequests and sums in various amounts are given to several organizations and persons, among them being the local Baptist church of which Mrs. Hunt was a member. The church is to receive $1,000 as does the Baptist orphanage at Hapeville.

George Young Arrested

Florida.

Two new suspects alleged to be involved in the murder last July of Bert Donaldson, criminal investigator, were placed in Fulton county tower Friday and ordered held with out bail.

There were George O. Young, 35, of 616 Jackson street, Atlanta; and C. A. McLeod, former resident of the city, who was brought here from St. Augustine, Fla.

Young's arrest was a singular one. It took place late Friday night when Young entered Fulton tower in an effort to effect the release of an acquaintance who was incarcerated there. He did not know that a request that he be taken into custody had arrived previously from the office of Solicitor General John Boykin. He knows it now.

McLeod was brought here by County Officers Charles Wyle and Roddy Foster. While it was understood that he was mentioned in connection with the secret indictment returned recently by the grand jury against three men involved in the Donaldson killing, the specific charge against McLeod was not announced. McLeod waived extradition hearing.

Donaldson was killed when he entered a room in a local residence hotel after he had waged war on thugs and crooks of the city. Those previously arrested are: Jack Lance, who will be tried May 3, it is reported; Hubert Fitchett, held in Chattanooga; Ike Sneed, Fleming King and Ralph Lovett, arrested in Arkansas.

Although it establishes no precedent in history, the simultaneous observation this year of Easter Sunday by Christians and the advent of Passover week by Jews, is a coincidence which will not occur again in many generations, it was learned Saturday from dignitaries of the Christian religion and the Jewish race.

Shortly after sundown tonight, the Jews will open a seven-day fasting period of ceremony in commemoration of the exodus of the Hebrews from Egypt about 3,800 years ago.

A few hours later, Christians will rise at dawn to attend services commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ, and similar services will continue throughout the day.

Six years ago, according to Rabbi David Marx, of the Hebrew Benevolent congregation, this similarity of dates occurred, the Easter and Passover periods blending. But, he said, it is a rare coincidence inasmuch as the annual observance of each feast is determined by contrasting calendars.

"Easter Sunday is determined from the Gregorian calendar, which provides that Easter fall on the first Sunday after the first full moon in the interval, while the Passover is determined solely by the lunar calendar and may fall on a Tuesday, Saturday or any other day of the week. The dates always fall near each other, however."

Passover, or "Pesach," is ushered in by the Seder ceremony, which is observed shortly after sundown tonight. The Seder is a symbolic feast of unleavened bread which is given in every Jewish home. The youngest child of the family asks the "Four Questions," as to the meaning of the day and of all its symbolism. The father then explains to the family the story of the ancient exodus. During the week, only unleavened bread may be eaten by the Jews.

Special Passover services will be held at the Jewish temple, Pryor and Richardson streets, Saturday night at 6 o'clock and on Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, with Dr. Marx conducting.

There were George O. Young, 35, of 616 Jackson street, Atlanta; and C. A. McLeod, former resident of the city, who was brought here from St. Augustine, Fla.

Young's arrest was a singular one. It took place late Friday night when Young entered Fulton tower in an effort to effect the release of an acquaintance who was incarcerated there. He did not know that a request that he be taken into custody had arrived previously from the office of Solicitor General John Boykin. He knows it now.

McLeod was brought here by County Officers Charles Wyle and Roddy Foster. While it was understood that he was mentioned in connection with the secret indictment returned recently by the grand jury against three men involved in the Donaldson killing, the specific charge against McLeod was not announced. McLeod waived extradition hearing.

Donaldson was killed when he entered a room in a local residence hotel after he had waged war on thugs and crooks of the city. Those previously arrested are: Jack Lance, who will be tried May 3, it is reported; Hubert Fitchett, held in Chattanooga; Ike Sneed, Fleming King and Ralph Lovett, arrested in Arkansas.

PEACHTREE STORE LEASE ANNOUNCED

Lease of ground floor space in the Norris building, on Peachtree street, between Cain and Harris street, to Leon Frohman for an aggregate rental of $250,000 over a period of 15 years, was announced Friday by Julian Furstenburg, of J. H. Ewing and Sons, who negotiated the transaction. The space consists of a double store on the north half of the new Norris building, with approximately 40 feet frontage on Peachtree and a depth of 70 feet. In addition is a basement of equal size. The store will be elaborately furnished for a women's specialty shop, for which preparations will begin immediately with the purpose of opening the store by August 10, it was stated. Mr. Frohman is a well-known young business man and has been connected with Frohman's, the large women's specialty shop at 50 Whitehall street, for the past two years as assistant manager and buyer. He resigned that position recently to enter business for himself. He left Atlanta Friday on a trip of several days in preparation for the opening of the new store, it is understood. The $250,000 lease represents one of the large commercial real estate transactions of the year and is said to indicate the substantial rental values of that section.

Bankrupt's Creditor Wins in Unusual Case To Share in Funds

The Columbus Iron Works, one of the creditors of the bankrupt Black Builders Supply company, of Marietta, Ga., was granted authority Friday by the supreme court to participate in funds in hands of the supply company's receiver. This decision set aside that of the Cobb superior court in which the Columbus concern was barred from participation as a creditor for failure to file claim within the time set by court order. "The court erred in not setting aside the order so far as the intervenors are concerned and in disallowing the intervention," the supreme court said. The receiver, William N. Sibley, has $6,000 in assets of the defunct corporation yet to distribute among creditors, the court records showed.

Mrs. Snyder Makes Appeal CALLS FORMER LOVER "SNEAKING JACKAL" For Sympathy of Mothers

New York, April 15.—(United Press.)—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, on the eve of her trial for assisting Henry Judd Gray, her affiant, in the alleged murder of her husband, has addressed a personal appeal for sympathy to all wives and mothers.

A flat denial of the charge of murder, scorn for her former lover, whom she refers to as a "sneaking jackal," a request that the public withhold its judgment of her, and a plea that "mothers and wives abide with me in thought during this stifling ordeal." While Mrs. Snyder, the gay "Tommy" of Long Island City bridge circles, was writing her message to the public, Gray was being put through a long series of tests by alienists to determine whether he could have been insane on the night of March 20 when he is alleged to have beaten Albert Snyder to death with a sash weight. "This is a message to my friends and to the people who know me only as a woman whose name has been printed in the headlines of newspapers since my husband met his death," Mrs. Snyder wrote. "Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder—my name is on everyone's tongue and undoubtedly there are hundreds who accuse me with helping Henry Judd Gray kill my husband. But I know there are thousands who refuse to believe the evil things that are being said about me and who realize that because my name is being dragged in the mud and slime of notoriety is no proof that I am not innocent. Not in this country."

"All I ask is that the public withhold judgment on me until the jury which will be chosen next week to pass judgment on me returns a verdict. I have no fear of the outcome because I know that I am innocent. They can't send an innocent woman away for a crime which she did not commit. Not in this country."

"How many mothers are there in this country who have read the things that have been said about me? How many of them sit down and think how they would feel if they were emmeshed in a lot of false charges made upon my name and character by an unscrupulous and vicious man like Henry Judd Gray? I knew Judd Gray as well as any woman knows any man. I know him better now than I ever knew him before."

"I know now that he is a coward, a low, cringing, sneaking jackal, the murderer of my husband, who is now trying to hide behind my skirts and who is trying to drag me down into the pit that he dug for himself and to brand me as a woman who killed her husband."

"I am a mother. I love my child and I loved my child's father. God, can you mothers and wives who read

TABLES TURNED AS MRS. DODGE SEEKS HUSBAND

Honolulu, April 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Horace Dodge, Jr., who has been engaged in a game of hide and seek with her husband from whom she has asked a divorce, was seeking him today. Previously she had been hiding at Volcano house at Hilo and said she would not leave the place to meet the young Detroit millionaire, who arrived here last Wednesday from San Francisco incognito.

Dodge left the boat disguised, and reporters have been unable to obtain a statement from him regarding the purpose of his visit, reported to be for effecting a reconciliation. But he made no effort to see Mrs. Dodge.

Mrs. Dodge today said that there was no chance for a reconciliation but she wanted to talk to Dodge before she sailed for the mainland Saturday on the President Madison.

Thereupon a new hunt was made for Dodge but the effort had not been successful late today.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES PORTO RICAN PLAN TO NAME GOVERNOR

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Appointment of a native as governor of Porto Rico would be acceptable to President Coolidge who made known today that he is not in favor of the proposal for election of a governor for the island.

U. S. SCHOOL BOOKS BLAMED BY BRITON IN CHINESE CHAOS

New York, April 15.—(AP)—American school books written in anti-British tone played an important part in the efforts of communists to bring about the present chaos in China, the Earl of Denbigh, of London, said today.

The books, he said, were used in propaganda work carried on among the more illiterate Chinese by the communists, who point to the unfriendly note in the books as the attitude of the American people toward Great Britain. He said the bolsheviks could not hurt England by force, but could strike at British foreign trade by creating discontent and strife among the peoples of other lands.

Earl and Lady Denbigh, formerly Miss Kathleen Emmett, of New York, arrived today from Boston. They are en route to Washington, where they will be guests of Sir Esmé Howard, the British ambassador.

Man Has Two Countries; Romeo Dubeau Is Puzzle To Immigration Men Not Wanted in Either

The story of "The Man Without a Country" is surpassed in the predicament of Romeo Dubeau, 27, inmate of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, who finds himself a man with two countries, neither of which wants him and over whom many fine points of international law are being debated by the United States and Canada, according to immigration inspectors in charge, M. A. Coykendall.

Dubeau rightly belongs to Canada, but although he wants to return to that neighboring country and salient points of his case show that he clearly belongs there, Canada refuses to take him, claiming that he is an inadmissible alien. Inspector Coykendall is now in the midst of correspondence with the Dominion officials and expects to be able to convince Canadian authorities that Dubeau is a subject of the king, although, he said, he cannot force Canada to admit the man.

The federal prisoner finds himself in the unique position of the pathetic hero of "The Man Without a Country," through a freak of nationality that involves the international law question of double allegiance. Dubeau was born in Lowell, Mass., of Canadian parents, and went to Canada with his family at the age of six.

When Dubeau was 19 years of age he joined the royal Canadian mounted police, taking the oath of allegiance to Canada, and at the age of 21, on reaching his majority, he voted in Canadian elections, again taking the Canadian oath of allegiance. By these three acts, taking up residence in Canada at the age of six, and taking the oath of allegiance twice, he has chosen his nationality as Canadian, as provided in international law, Inspector Coykendall said.

But Canada says "no," and refuses to have him, claiming that, having been born on American soil, he is a citizen of this country, and furthermore claiming that he has not voted in Canadian elections. This latter point is now under investigation.

Dubeau visited the United States in July, of 1926, and while here was found, it was alleged, in possession of counterfeit plates. He was tried, and found guilty of the charge, and sentenced to four years in the federal penitentiary here. Subsequently, immigration authorities issued a warrant of deportation from Canada, and the international law mix-up followed.

Rome Man Charged With Collecting Insurance Claims

Rome, Ga., April 15.—(P)—W. N. Booker, agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was arrested here today on a warrant sworn out by D. D. Schaefer, special agent of the company, alleging that he had made false returns in death claims and collected the money himself. The amount involved was said to approximate $14,000.

Dr. L. F. Smith, of Lindale, was arrested in connection with the same case. There were six counts in the warrant alleging misfeasance.

Booker, who is understood to have admitted falsifying returns as to deaths of holders of industrial insurance policies, was released on bond of $4,500. Dr. Smith's bond was fixed at $3,000. He will be given a preliminary hearing April 23.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO REVIEW FLEET

Washington, April 15.—(P)—President Coolidge is hopeful of reviewing the United States fleet off Hampton Roads, Va., early in June but he has not been able to decide definitely on the trip.

MARTIN PRESENTS EVERGLADES PLAN

Tallahassee, Fla., April 15.—(P)—Reclamation of the Everglades under a $20,000,000 bond issue, guaranteed by New York capitalists, with the burden of finance placed solidly on the present Everglades drainage district, was recommended as the sole solution to the pressing problem in an elaborate plan presented today by Governor John W. Martin before the legislature in joint session.

The detailed proposal was incorporated in its entirety in twin bills introduced concurrently immediately following the governor's address by Senator Etheredge, of the twenty-seventh district, and by Representative Kanner Stuart, in their respective houses. Both also presented at the same time a companion measure, embodying a salient recommendation of the state's chief executive, to provide for authorization to levy a special ad valorem drainage tax.

Financing Plan. Governor Martin in his message characterized his plan as solely an Everglades project, to be financed exclusively by residents of the area affected, and not by levy of a state-wide tax or the inclusion of adjacent area for tax purposes. He referred to the present drainage tax in the "glades," which is used to pay interest and create a sinking fund for retirement of $10,250,000 in bonds issued in previous administrations. He pointed out that with the payment of this outstanding obligation, the state will have available from the drainage tax $750,000 annually, which he asserted would provide interest and create a sinking fund on another $10,250,000 sale of which will provide ample funds for work alone.

The bill provides, as Governor Martin pointed out, that if the present drainage tax, levied on an acreage basis, is not sufficient, the board is authorized to levy an ad valorem tax on real property in the drainage district in the amount necessary.

The bill provides for the issuance of $20,000,000 in bonds bearing interest not over 6 per cent, to mature within 40 years. The board of commissioners of the Everglades drainage district will be empowered to authorize all levies, and to change the district out, that if the present drainage tax, levied on an acreage basis, is not sufficient, the board is authorized to levy an ad valorem tax on real property in the drainage district in the amount necessary.

Funds Kept in Trust. Continuing, the bill provides that any residue left from the payment of the constitutional 25 per cent into the school fund from internal improvement lands shall be kept in trust until all bonds are payable against the area, and also to go towards the payment of interest and principal. Moneys derived from the sale of internal improvement lands and collected from mortgages on such lands are to be held in separate account, to be used in lightening the financial burden.

Governor Martin continued to withhold the names of the New York financiers who have guaranteed purchase of the bond issue contemplated, if approved by the legislature. The message and accompanying bills followed his statement two weeks ago upon his return from New York that sufficient funds for completing the reclamation and drainage project had been promised. Both bills were referred to the committee on drainage in their respective bodies.

GEORGIANS INCLUDED IN PATENT AWARDS

Washington, D. C., April 15.—(P) Inventions of four Georgians were in-

Juror, Kin of Co-Defendant In Murder Case, Disqualified

"A person who is first cousin to B is not competent to serve as a juror upon the trial of A where A and B are jointly indicted for murder, and the defendants having elected, to sever, A is first placed upon trial," the Georgia supreme court held Friday in answering a question certified from the state court of appeals.

The question was regarding the case of Cambron, or Cameron, vs. state, from the Fulton superior court.

The court did not err in directing a mistrial over the objections of A, regardless of the fact that when the jury was being selected the jurors were asked whether they were related to A, but not inquired as to their relationship to B, who was to be tried for the same murder, was not such an impartial juror in the trial of A as the prosecution was entitled to have.

Whipping Post Revival Urged For Petty Crimes

Douglas, Ga., April 15.—(P)—Re-establishment of the whipping post as a method of punishing petty criminals was advocated before the annual state convention of sheriffs and peace officers in session here, by L. M. Sumner, of Jacksonville, Fla., in charge of special agents of the Seaboard Air Line railway.

Sumner said petty crimes generally lead to offenses of greater magnitude and advocated the "whipping post and other old-time methods of punishing petty offenders, as a means of arresting criminal tendencies." He advocated the whipping post as a "special cure for men who neglect their families." Sumner said the plan had been met with success in Maryland, where the whipping post was re-established.

President C. O. Nobles, of Crisp county, appointed committees to work out a form of insurance for families of peace officers killed in line of duty. Establishment of a daily newspaper for peace officers was advocated by Nobles and on motion of the convention, he appointed a committee to investigate the proposal.

Sheriff J. A. Heard, of Muscogee, former president of the association, urged peace officers to enforce the law from a Christian viewpoint. M. J. Wright, of Atlanta, proposed the establishment of a state bureau of identification.

ALTAMAHA BRIDGE OPENING PLANNED

Waycross, Ga., April 15.—(P)—A new bridge across the Altamaha river between Taxley and Lyons will be opened with elaborate ceremony May 5. The Waycross and Ware county chamber of commerce is at work on the program for the opening exercises, which in patent awards announced by the federal bureau this week. They are:

Jonathan Lucas, Savannah, inventor of a shuttle mechanism for looms; Essie R. Palmer, Savannah, inventor of an automobile's glove; Paul Dixon, Atlanta, card protector; Mark Taylor, Gainesville, brace plate.

COOLIDGE PRAISES ENDURANCE FLIERS

Minneapolis, N. Y., April 15.—(P)—Among the many congratulatory messages received by Aviators Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlin, holders of new endurance records, was one from President Coolidge. It read as follows:

"My heartiest congratulations on your setting a new world's record in your airplane endurance flight. It is a matter of pride that this should have been accomplished by an American-made plane. Such an achievement marks a distinct forward step in aviation."

Truck Driver Killed Near Sparta as Machine Overtakes on Highway

Sparta, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) Leon Twilley, son of George Twilley, prominent merchant of Jewell, on the edge of Hancock county, was almost instantly killed late yesterday afternoon when he lost control of a loaded truck he was driving, which turned over in a ditch on the side of the highway coming down to the Ogeechee river. The truck and load fell upon the young man, crushing his life out. Twilley is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters. The funeral and interment were held this afternoon in the Jewell cemetery.

MCDONALD GREETED OLD U. S. FRIENDS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, April 15.—Ramsay MacDonald, head of the British labor party and former prime minister of Great Britain, arrived today on the Aquitania, was taken from it on the Macom, surrounded by a welcoming committee which Grover Whalen headed, and went with his daughter, Isabel, to the Henry street settlement, where he will spend the 10 days of his visit.

Macdonald is here purely as a private citizen revisiting scenes which he has not seen for 20 years. He will go with Isabel over the ground he visited two decades ago.

Asked about political trends in England, he said:

"The political barometer points to fair as far as we are concerned," he said. "There has been a change in public opinion in the last 12 months, a swing against the government and in favor of the labor party."

He said that the party had been unfortunate in the last two by-elections, but that it meant nothing. The trade union bill will pass, he believes, but not without numerous amendments. He does not consider it likely to be a serious blow to labor, although it is aimed at a curtailment of strikes and contains a provision which is intended to remove members of labor unions from any compulsion, direct or indirect, to contribute to the labor party.

The former prime minister assailed the present government as incompetent. Macdonald thought it would be long before Britain withdrew recognition from the soviet government.

He said he believed the best way to protect foreign settlers in China was to buy the tickets home, and assailed the recent transfer of British troops.

FEDERAL HAY GRADING URGED UPON SELLERS

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Use of federal hay grades was urged today by the department of agriculture as a remedy for dissatisfaction among hay dealers and consumers in the southeastern states resulting from the use of indefinite descriptive terms by dairymen placing orders for hay.

Dairymen unable to obtain the quality of alfalfa wanted frequently buy protein in the form of mill feeds which are relatively high in price and which department experts declare are not a complete substitute for a protein forage such as alfalfa.

A survey just made by the bureau of agricultural economics shows that general specifications such as "good feeding hay," "choice dairy alfalfa," and "bright fine early hay" are used in orders, which terms may be interpreted differently by shippers and buyers and make possible deliberate misrepresentation. Use of federal grades and inspection is urged to correct the situation.

These grades are based upon definite color and foreign material specifications, and in the case of alfalfa, also upon leafiness. The specifications are definite and can be accurately interpreted and applied by federal inspectors to determine controversies and disputed contracts.

FLIER FALLS 6,000 FEET INTO RIVER; ESCAPES UNHURT

Washington, April 15.—Lieutenant Stephen A. McClellan dropped 6,000 feet into the Potomac river and escaped unhurt after his airplane broke into pieces while doing 200 miles an hour in a nose dive.

After the parachute fall, McClellan released himself and started swimming ashore. He was rescued by spectators who put out in a boat.

The flier, a marine corps reserve pilot, was testing a new type of plane used for shipboard fighting. He put his ship into a roll at 6,000 feet when the tail splintered and the machine started earthward in a nose dive. The wings were shattered and McClellan jumped in his parachute.

The body and engine of the plane landed in two feet of water with the propeller running wide open.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, witnessed the fall.

GASOLINE 12-12 IS CALIFORNIA'S RATE WAR SIGN

Los Angeles, April 15.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of California today slashed the price of its gasoline 2 cents to 12-12 cents a gallon, the price set a few hours earlier by the Pan-American Petroleum company in a new skirmish of the southern California gasoline war.

John M. Parker To Back Smith For Presidency

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, April 15.—Governor Al Smith's latest southern backer for the presidency is John M. Parker, former governor of Louisiana and an avowed foe of Ku Klux Klan, who declares that the "south can be swung in line" and that Smith should be nominated by the democratic party next year.

The notification that Parker is a Smith adherent came to light as a result of a letter made public today, written by him to Adolphus Ragan, an old friend and lawyer, and a native of Texas.

Parker was nominated for vice president as a teammate with President Roosevelt on the progressive ticket in 1916. After Roosevelt's death, Parker stumped the country for Woodrow Wilson.

After the election Wilson wrote him: "In my reelection, I owe more to you than to any other man individual in the United States."

In his letter, Parker wrote in part: "I have for a long time been an earnest advocate of Governor Smith because I believe him honest, fearless and a man, with the courage of his convictions."

"To my mind, he, today, represents the highest type of Americanism. The man attacking his religion and opposing him solely because he is a Catholic shows his own lack of loyalty to our constitution."

"He is a great man and it would be a great pity for either religious fanatics or scheming politicians to interfere with his nomination."

"I am a Presbyterian, Presbyterian, and have been a Master Mason nearly 38 years."

LAUGHTER GREETS FORD HORN NOTES IN OPERA FACTORY

Boston, April 15.—(AP)—"Flivver, 10,000,000!" Intest of the mechanistic and metallic war, offered itself for the first time to the public here today as one of four numbers played by the Boston Symphony orchestra. Laughter as well as applause greeted the composition, but the composer, Frederick S. Converse, took a "curtain call" unmolested by any hostile demonstration such as greeted George Antheil's "Ballade Mechanique" in Carnegie hall, New York, April 10.

The full title of the work reads: "Flivver 10,000,000, a Joyous Epic: Fantasy for the Orchestra Composed by F. S. Converse. Inspired by the Familiar Legend 'The Ten Million Ford Is Now Serving Its Owner'."

The fantasy as a whole followed established form and utilized the regular instruments of the orchestra for the most part.

The chief "extra" was a Ford horn, sounded in a dead pause of the orchestra, first, muted, and then loud or blasts un-muted. It was here that the audience laughed. The entire composition was a realistic treatment of its subject with tortured harmonies, with more than a hint of jolting, rattling metal, or crash and of continued life.

SOUTH CAROLINA EDITOR ARRESTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

St. George, S. C., April 15.—(AP)—Charged with criminal libel in publishing alleged false statements about O. B. Limbush, sheriff of Dorchester county and other persons connected with the sheriff's office, W. B. Tarkington, editor of the Dorchester Eagle, a weekly newspaper published here, was released on bail of $1,000 late last night. He was arrested yesterday afternoon. The warrant was sworn out by the sheriff, who today stated that he would bring a civil suit, asking damages of $50,000 against the persons responsible for the charges printed in the newspaper.

The editorial upon which the warrant was based appeared in a Sunday's issue of the paper. It was charged that a still, found in a remote section of the county by a deputy sheriff, was put in the county jail and that about two weeks later the still was loaded in a wagon and hauled to parts unknown. The editorial called on the sheriff to tell where the still was taken.

U. S. WILL CORK HARBORS TIGHTER AGAINST ALIENS

Washington, April 15.—America is to clamp the lid tighter on seaports and border lines in an effort to lessen unlawful entry of aliens, it was decided today after a conference between department of labor officials and 21 district immigration inspectors.

"Most of the illegal entries come through the seamen's route," Carl Robe White, assistant secretary of labor, said.

"We are seeking methods to make our alien laws more effective and to more easily apprehend those alien seamen who overstay their leave permission in this country."

"The Canadian and Mexican border situation has cleared up considerably, and our chief difficulty now is with seamen going ashore under 90-day permits and failing to return to their boats."

EDUCATOR DIES AT MACON MEET

Macon, Ga., April 15.—(AP)—Professor Ernest Anderson, dean of the Georgia State Normal school at Statesboro, died at a local hospital this morning. He was taken suddenly ill while addressing an early meeting of the Georgia Education association Wednesday and was operated on yesterday.

Professor Anderson was one of the best known educators in the state, and a member of the First Baptist church at Statesboro. The funeral will be at Graymont-Summit, funeral home, at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

He is survived by his widow and two young children, a daughter and a son.

STUDENT DEMANDS RIGHT TO QUESTION SCHOOL POLICIES

Kansas City, April 15.—(AP)—A student who is dismissed from school for criticizing the school authorities is better off than one who is willing to be put in a place without objecting, declared Gerald Fling, of Kansas City, in an address before the student conference here today.

"I am a Kansas City Junior college for publishing a newspaper which attacked policies of the board of education relative to student government."

"If enough of us students who want to do our own thinking are kicked out of colleges we can start a college of our own," Fling remarked.

The college newspaper is the salvation of the college. If it cannot speak for the minority and possibly awake to think about affairs of student government—then the hope for improvement in the American educational system is gone."

ACTRESS, "BRIDE IN GILDED CAGE," LOSES HUSBAND

Newburgh, N. Y., April 15.—Serge Treshatny, youthful Russian who met success some years ago as inventor of a spiral rider, obtained a divorce Friday from Beverly West, his actress wife.

Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., granted the decree of testimony by Dennis Hackett, Bridgeport, Conn., policeman, who said Miss West and a member of "The Drag" company were found in a bedroom in the Arcade hotel. Miss West was arrested as the "Bride in the Gilded Cage," a sister of Mae West, star of "Sex."

SINGLE STALK COTTON SPACING GIVES RESULTS

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—"The single stalk" method of close spacing cotton plants has been found by the department of agriculture experiments with Pima and Acala cotton at Tucson, Ariz., to result in greater number of bolls maturing.

On announcing today the results of several years' comparison of cultural practices, the department said plants without limbs were found to shed a smaller proportion of bolls than do larger plants which have long fruiting branches and vegetation limbs. The close spacing of cotton plants reduces the number of vegetative limbs and thus results in a greater percentage of bolls maturing.

EXPLORER PLANS FOR HONEYMOON IN GORILLA-LAND

New York, April 15.—(AP)—Joseph Klein, African explorer, returned today on the Conte Biancamano from a hunting trip in the jungle, to marry Miss Florence Tintera, of Tapan, N. Y.

Following their marriage they will return to the Mufumbi mountains, Belgian Congo, the land of gorillas.

Klein has participated in the killing of 620 lions, but declared he has persistently declined to shoot gorillas, because they are too human. He has studied ape life for more than twelve years in the African jungle, and was associated with the late Carl Akeley.

STRAW VOTE PROVES HINDENBURG POPULAR

Berlin, April 15.—(United News.) President Paul von Hindenburg shares with Foreign Minister Stresemann the honor of being the most popular German in the eyes of the world, a straw ballot, recently completed by the newspaper Berlin Achttuhrtblatt, reveals.

The poll was conducted among newspaper editors and publishers in 22 countries. Editors of the United States voted for Hindenburg and Stresemann. The president received 17 votes and Stresemann 16. Chancellor Marx, the former kaiser and Paul Loebe, president of the reichstag, were among those to receive one vote each.

Safe and Sane Fourth Blamed For Bankruptcy

New York, April 15.—(United News.)—The modern "safe and sane" Fourth of July claimed its first victim when an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court Friday by Pains Fireworks, Inc.

This company made the bulk of the fireworks, Roman candles, skyrockets and pinwheels used by the youths of the land in celebration of Independence day.

When the "safe and sane fourth" movement began with its cities legislating against pyrotechnics within their limits, the profits of Pains Fireworks, Inc., fizzed out like a wet firecracker.

According to the petition in bankruptcy it is unable to pay one employee $50, another $37 and a third $1,200.

PHYSICIAN ADMITS KILLING CAPTAIN; LOVED HIS WIFE

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
The Hague, April 15.—Dutch society was shocked today at the confession of a leechy physician of the Dutch army, who admitted that he killed his army captain friend through an injection of poison, while attending him during an illness. The physician confessed that he loved the captain's wife.

REPORT IS SUBMITTED ON COAST ROAD WORK

Savannah, Ga., April 15.—(AP)—In a statement from H. J. Friedman, vision engineer of the state highway department, showing progress of work on the Coastal highway by contracts from date of beginning to April 1, 1927, submitted today at the annual meeting of the Coastal highway commission, it was shown that of "contracts from Brunswick, south," $632,184.97 of a total of $984,550.86 were complete, the percentage being given as 64. "Contracts from Brunswick north" total $1,318,172.74, of which $271,263.41, or 21 per cent, is complete.

It was shown that the William E. MacDonald Construction company, which is concreting part of the highway between here and Darien, on April 1 had completed 36 per cent of its contract, and the Newell Contracting company, doing asphalt work on the same route, had finished 23 per cent.

The specific items listed for the highway from Brunswick south show various stages of completion ranging from 100 per cent to 26 per cent, while $30,900 worth of contracts for a 208-foot steel span, and a bituminous mat have not been let.

The annual meeting of the commission was held in the board of trade rooms. Officers were re-elected as follows: Harvey Granger, chairman; Frank C. Battey, secretary-treasurer; David S. Atkinson, attorney; and E. L. Stephenson, of Brunswick, field superintendent.

Doctors Tell Of New Remedy In Peritonitis

Rochester, N. Y., April 15.—(AP)—A new method of treating peritonitis, which is expected to curtail the present high death rate in the disease, was announced today to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, meeting here.

Dr. Bernard Steinberg, of Cleveland, announced the new treatment, reporting conclusions drawn from experiments made by Dr. Harry Goldblatt, also of Cleveland, and himself.

The method, he said, is to inoculate with germs of peritonitis to cause the disease, then give the subject a serum made of bacteria from another subject who has developed peritonitis.

"The effect," he explained, "is to place in the system bacteria which are in conflict with those of the active disease—a poison which will fight a poison. In the case with which we experimented we were quite successful."

While he said his experiments have been confined to dogs, he was confident that the treatment would prove as satisfactory with human beings and might reduce almost to zero the present high rate of mortality.

Dr. C. Saul Danzer, of New York City, reported the discovery in the blood streams of persons having high blood pressure a substance appearing to be a poison.

Recovery of the drug epinephrine, used in the relief of bronchial cases, from a herb used in China for years and now possibly of cultivation in this country, was announced by Dr. Guy W. Clark, of the University of California, and Lingnan university, China.

SEWS UP POCKETS SO THAT TROOPS WILL STAND ERECT

Special to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.
Paris, April 15.—Unable to cure his soldiers of the unsightly habit of showing their hands in their pockets, Colonel Leptace, commander of the 108th regiment, stationed in the Rhine land, has ordered the pockets sewn up. "The order applies to men and non-coms, but will be extended to officers if necessary to assure the proper military carriage," the order reads.

New York, April 15.—(AP)—Twenty-five mounted policemen, 75 patrolmen, detectives of the bomb and industrial squads and numerous other plainclothesmen today were ordered to be on hand tomorrow from 1 to 4:30 p. m. at a scheduled mass meeting in Union Square of citizens to hear protests against the imposition of the death penalty on Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

OPERA TICKET SELLERS ADDED

Preparations to work an augmented shift of ticket sellers to take care of the demand for single performance opera seats through Saturday have been completed and the office staff will be able to handle the crowds speedily, it was announced by the Atlanta Music Festival association Friday night. Some choice seats for some of the operas still remain but those who want to get these seats are advised to be on hand Saturday.

The seat sale thus far discloses the fact that the programs for Tuesday and Wednesday night are running close for first place in popularity. The big spectacle "Turandot" is the bill for Wednesday night while the Tuesday night program includes a double bill of "Gianni Schicchi" and "L'Armata Dei Tre Re" in which 29 principals of the Metropolitan Opera company will appear.

The out-of-town demand is particularly gratifying to the officers of the musical association and this year's program appears to be one which is attracting visitors from a larger territory than last season.

Indications also point to a capacity audience on the opening night for "La Traviata," while the operas for the last two days of the week are proving to be popular with the out-of-town buyers.

The seats for single operas are on sale at the Cable Piano company, 84 North Broad street.

CAMDEN BOARD WINS IN COURTHOUSE FIGHT

The contract entered into by the county commissioners of Camden county to build a new courthouse after it had canceled its first contract was not in violation of the prior restraining order, the supreme court held Friday in upholding the decision of the Camden superior court.

It is not necessary for county authorities to levy a tax or issue bonds, or to have the vote of the people, provided they do not contract for a sum exceeding available funds on hand and the amount of taxes levied, or may be lawfully levied, for the year for that purpose," the decision said.

"The trial court did not err in its facts in this case in ordering entry of the contract on the minutes of the board of county commissioners, in which event, the restraining order theretofore granted should be dissolved."

PIMPLES AND BLACK- HEADS ALL OVER FACE

Was ashamed to be seen—simple remedy brought quick improvement

Munden, Va., Aug. 5:—"While ago I began to be troubled with enlarged pores and blackheads. Then pimples developed, and even boils. My skin was very sore and in a terrible condition. It was so disfigured and unsightly I was ashamed of it. I tried about everything to be had for pimples, but with no good results. I had heard Resinol Ointment and Soap so highly recommended for troubles like mine, I decided to try them. After one treatment there was a decided improvement, and the pimples began to fade away. I advise everybody with skin trouble to try Resinol." (Signed) Miss Hazel Beasley.

cratic primary of May 25. Mr. Wardlaw is opposed by J. R. McMichael.

"There are several projects which I would be pleased to assist in pushing through council before my retirement," Mr. Wardlaw said in making his entry. "Peters street and Whitehall street widening have been pet projects of mine. I have endeavored to prosecute for the past several months, and at this time conditions are very encouraging."

"I had no intention of making the race again this year, but the desire to complete this work and the insistence of a large group of friends that I continue my service have caused me to become a candidate again. If I am elected, I pledge my best efforts in keeping Atlanta running on a business-like and economical basis."

Mr. Wardlaw not only has been zealous for improvements in his own ward but has supported every worthy project which came to council on other wards, his friends pointed out Friday. He was one of the staunchest champions of the $8,000,000 bond issue and also aided materially in completing details of the Luckie street widening, regarding and the project, which has just been authorized.

H. J. DE LA PARELLE GETS NEW POST IN ALBANY

H. J. de la Parelle, assistant state entomologist, has been transferred from the bureau office here to the entomological experiment station at Albany, Ga., and will take over his duties as director of the station next week.

The Albany station will give particular attention to the control of insects affecting peach trees, Mr. de la Parelle said. Two species of insects that have given peach growers in south Georgia considerable trouble, he said, are the nut case and the leaf case borer, one feeding on the leaves of the tree and the other on the fruit.

Besides work on peaches, the new station director said he will do experimental work on insects affecting cotton and truck crops.

NAPIER BETTER AFTER VACATION IN LANARK, FLA.

George M. Napier, attorney general, returned Friday from a week's vacation at Lanark, Fla., and he said his health was much improved as a result of the brief rest.

T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, in the trial to determine the ownership of a document bearing the signature of Button Gwinnett, is expected to return to his office Monday, it was stated.

CADETS WILL HOLD FULL DRESS PARADE

Full dress parade from 4 to 6 o'clock to be reviewed by a board of army officers from the war department in Washington, will be the feature of the annual inspection at Georgia Military academy next Tuesday, according to announcements made Friday by Colonel J. C. Woodward, president of the school.

Following the parade there will be an old-fashioned barbecue. Georgia military academy has the distinction of being one of the 12 military honor schools in the United States.

Two Minors and Parents Billed in Auto Deaths

Indictments on misdemeanor charges were returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury against Raymond Pinholster, 15 years old, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Pinholster, 1423 Graham street, the charges growing out of an automobile accident in which Trula Reed, eight-year-old negro girl, was struck by an automobile driven by young Pinholster, later dying of her injuries. The accident occurred at the junction of Rose circle and Lee street. The parents were indicted on a charge of permitting the son to drive an automobile before reaching the age of 16 years.

These indictments were returned at the same time the grand jury returned indictments against W. D. Morgan, driver of a Salvation Army truck, and Tom Evans, driver of a city prison truck, on charges of involuntary manslaughter growing out of the death of two prisoners who were killed when the two trucks collided at North boulevard and Rankin street last January.

Headlines Shout Warning To You; Secure Protection!

Read the headlines! "Two Dead, Nine Hurt, Five Injured in Atlanta Accidents in 24 Hours."

Read the headlines! They literally shout a warning to you to protect your prosperity and the future of your family against the evergrowing wave of disasters sweeping the country.

You can't avoid wrecks. No matter how careful you are, the other fellow may crash into you. Pedestrian or motorist, city or rural dweller—you need insurance.

You can get it most efficiently and at the same time most cheaply through the offer of The Constitution to its readers of the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance company of Chicago.

The price is negligible—only $1.25 per year, a fraction of a penny a day for protection that would cost you many times more if purchased elsewhere.

The policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain specified accidents; heavy sums for permanent injuries; and a full indemnity for disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy.

All this for $1.25 in the face of a

SEABOARD INSTALLS NEW FLORIDA SERVICE

Anticipating a brisk movement of tourist motorists between eastern and Florida points, the Seaboard Air Line railway has announced a greatly enhanced summer passenger service to go into effect April 17.

Two crack trains will be put on between New York and Florida, "The Southern" and "The New York-Florida Limited." Running on a fast schedule, they will inaugurate new service on leaving New York and Washington April 17, with the first northbound runs scheduled for April 19 from Miami and St. Petersburg.

The new trains will replace the "Orange Blossom Special" and the "Seaboard Florida Limited," scheduled to leave New York on the last run of the season April 16, and north out of Miami two days later.

"The Seaboard" will be equipped with all steel coaches, the sleepers of which are divided into ten sections by partition walls. Comfortable rest rooms and observation coaches are among additional appointments installed with a view toward providing the ultimate in comfort on the long journey.

U. S. AGENTS LEAVE TO RETURN SUSPECTS

An order reopening the compromise settlement with creditors of the affairs of W. D. Manley, bankrupt president of the Merchants' Bank Trust company, was signed Friday in United States district court by Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

The matter now goes to Referee in Bankruptcy Harry Dodd for a new hearing on the settlement with creditors, the government having placed a large income tax claim since the settlement of the Manley affairs was agreed upon.

SLAYING ACCOMPLICE DENIED NEW TRIAL

The supreme court Friday denied a new trial sought by George Waller, of Campbell county, convicted of complicity in the killing of Homer McElreath, rural letter carrier, five years ago. Waller was given a life sentence as was White, Charles Huggins and Claude Marks. It was contended by attorneys that the trial court erred in admitting evidence showing that McElreath was killed by being struck over the head by a "blunt instrument." The higher court upheld the ruling of the lower court.

Federal agents worked on the McElreath case for more than three years before they were able to obtain enough evidence against the defendants to bring them to trial.

DRUID HILLS REVIVAL WILL CLOSE SUNDAY

Two special services will be held Sunday in the closing program of a two weeks' revival service which has been in progress at the Druid Hills Methodist church during the past two weeks.

The Rev. R. L. Russell, pastor of the church will speak at both morning and night services and his night subject will be "Our Refuge Here."

James V. Reid, of Fort Worth, Texas, has been in charge of the young people's work and the song services. Two special song services have been planned for Sunday, it was stated.

ADAIR REALTY FIRM DECLARED BANKRUPT

The Adair Realty and Trust company, a $2,000,000 concern which has developed many real estate projects in the south, was adjudicated bankrupt in federal court here Friday. The automatic action followed the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the company March 30, and the failure of the firm to deny bankruptcy.

The petition was filed by three employees of the Adair firm who claimed $815.45. Additional claims of $23,000 against Adair and Senter, Inc., a construction company of the organization, were filed by Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, Otis Elevator company and the Southeastern Electric company.

Harry Dodd, referee in bankruptcy, said ten days remain in which the Adair Realty and Trust company may file a schedule of creditors. Eugene R. Black, Atlanta banker, was named receiver by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley, following the filing of the petition.

The Adair Realty and Loan company, recently organized to operate the real estate sales, rental, insurance and loan departments of the organization, will not be affected by the receiver ship, Forrest Adair, president, said. The Adair Realty and Trust company, organized in 1905, had offices in Atlanta, Philadelphia and Jacksonville, Fla., and correspondents in many cities.

SECOND TRIAL GETS NEGRO LONGER TERM

On a retrial after being given a two year sentence following a recent conviction on a charge of assault with intent to murder, John Allen, a negro, was given a sentence of from five to ten years by a jury in the Fulton superior court Friday. After his first conviction, lawyers for the negro sought and obtained a new trial. The second jury gave him a much longer sentence on his second appearance in court.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, or through an out-of-town carrier, or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through a post office or rural route delivery, and all those subscribing through the twin-city building contract for one year are eligible by paying $12.50 per year per policy above the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation. If beneficiary is desired, full Christian name must be given and the relation of same to the insured.

Another test of the right of the city to limit construction of commercial houses in residential sections of Atlanta came Friday in the streets committee of council, in which the Gulf Refining company won its point and will begin erection shortly of a filling station at Lawton and Gordon streets.

Little still member of the Georgia legislature from Fulton county, headed a large group of protesting citizens who declared that their property would be damaged greatly by construction of another station at that intersection. He lost his fight, however, a majority of the members of the committee limiting the city has no right under the present status of the zoning laws to establish what is equivalent to a zoning system in the face of an adverse supreme court decision.

The committee authorized the construction department to advertise for bids for paving of the following stretches:

Gilmer, from Piedmont to Pratt; Brown avenue, from Jonesboro road to Capitol street; Chestnut place, from Chestnut street to Newport; and Warner street from Allene avenue to Roberts street.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR AGED VETERAN, SAMUEL STOCKING

Funeral services for Samuel Stocking, 87, of 795 Peachtree street, veteran of the war between the states and a prominent Atlanta business man for many years, who died Friday morning at the residence, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of Barclay and Brandon company. The Rev. N. R. H. Moor will officiate and interment will be in the Marietta National cemetery.

A native of Utica, N. Y., Mr. Stocking was a member of a prominent family in the country's history. He enlisted in the service of the federal army and was a lieutenant.

Soon after the war he moved to Atlanta and for many years was cashier of the Merchants' Bank. He later became secretary and treasurer of the Atlanta Cotton Mills, a position which he held for more than 20 years. During the last 15 years of his life he has been an official in the transit department of the Atlanta and Lowry bank.

His family is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Donnelly, Jr., of New York, and Miss Katherine M. Stocking; a son, Sam Stocking, Jr.; and several grandchildren.

HENRY BROWN WINS HONORS IN DE MOLAY

Nine southerners are among the 183 DeMolay chapter advisors to receive the cross of honor for three or more years of outstanding service to the order, according to word received here from Frank S. Land, grand scribe of the order, Kansas City, Mo.

They include one Georgian, Henry Brown, of Savannah; three Kentuckians, J. R. Fistas, of Lexington; E. E. Burdett and B. M. Brizman, of Louisville; two Louisianans, E. A. Gillespie and J. H. Rowland, of Shreveport; and three Virginians, Philip St. L. Monrore, of Norfolk; W. S. Pettit, of Richmond; and P. L. Patterson, of Roanoke.

Newark, N. J., "Well, that's that," said John C. Kisele, financier, and then collapsed in the director's room of the Washington Trust company. He died before aid could be reached.

Yesterday's hand was:

♠ Q-J-3-2
♥ 10-9-8
♦ A-Q-J-4-3
♣ A-Q-J-4-3

In every case South's initial bid obtains the contract.

My answer list reads:

No. 17: West should lead the Queen of Clubs.
No. 18: West should lead the Ace of Clubs.
No. 19: West should lead the Queen of Spades.
No. 20: West should lead the Queen-Jack-9 suit and an Ace-Queen-10 suit.
No. 21: Against a No-Trump, while the choice between the Queen-Jack-9 suit and an Ace-Queen-10 suit is not when one suit is of five cards and the other of four.

Having trump strength, a singleton is not a sound lead; and it is best to try the long suit even when it is headed by a tenace.

No. 19: Contract, three Hearts. Having both one trump and the establishment of a suit not being apt to be advantageous, the Queen-Jack-9 overruled.

presents a better opening than the Ace-Queen-Jack. The worthless trebleton is not to be considered.

No. 20: Contract four Diamonds. It is a close choice between singleton Three of Hearts and the Queen of Spades; but in desperate cases the singleton is more apt to result successfully than the lead of the moderately strong four-card suit.

This concludes our first series of leading hands. Twenty different leads have been explained and you have had 20 opportunities to compare your leads with your friends' solutions and with my answers. Next week a series of 20 bidding hands will be submitted; the first appearing on Monday and the last on Friday. Arrange now with your Bridge-playing friends to name your bids every one of the five days, each one on his own answer slip; and see how your respective records compare. No Bridge contest in which you can participate will be more interesting than this.

SENTENCE OF DEATH UPHELD IN DECISION

The state supreme court affirmed the decision of the trial court Friday in the conviction of George Waller, who was jointly indicted with three other men for the murder of Homer McElreath in Campbell county, Ga. February 1, 1926.

Waller, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, claimed he was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence and that the indictment did not sufficiently describe the instrument alleged to have been used in the killing.

The supreme court held the demurrer to the indictment was properly overruled.

You demand a label on all your food purchases. Why except butter the more important food?

IMAGINE THE shelves of your grocer filled with cans and boxes of foods on which there were no labels.

Unthinkable almost, isn't it?

But have you the same concern for all foods? Do you just include those things with which you have become familiar?

Take butter for example. Do you insist that it, too, be labeled? Surely you do for butter is the most important food... far more important to know its origin, its quality and who is responsible for its purity and goodness than many of the other foods you would never think of buying without a label.

And Morning Glory Butter is labeled for you.

The name Morning Glory itself stands for purity, freshness, wholesomeness, taste—quality!

Surely you want the same assurance of these things in butter, the more important food, as in other foods.

On This Guarantee

Drive up to a Reed BIGGER GALLON Station. Fill up with New Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas. If you do not get more miles per gallon we will make a satisfactory adjustment, you to be the judge, you to name the terms. We positively guarantee that Reed's New Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas will give more mileage per gallon than any other gas sold in Atlanta.

No One Gas Will Efficiently Serve Miami and Montreal, Maine and California

Different climates, different elevations demand different gasolines if maximum mileage and efficiency are to be realized by the motorist . . . More than a year ago our chemists began an intensive study of gasolines with the idea of evolving a new gas that would meet Atlanta's exact requirements with especial reference to climate, moisture and altitude . . . They succeeded in developing a formula that resulted in the introduction of Reed's new Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas, which has been sold by our twenty-five stations since January 1st, 1927 . . . Thorough tests conducted over a period of three months in thousands of cars of every type and make have proven to our satisfaction that this New Blu-Streak Gas will always give a BIGGER GALLON measured in miles.

Reed's New Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas is distilled especially for Atlanta by our own special process from high-grade paraffine base oil—not from low-grade crude oils by the "cracking" process . . . New Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas is a better gas, a premium gasoline, at no higher than the price of inferior grades. High Compression; Complete Combustion; Quick Starting; Power and Pick-Up—you can't help but notice the difference when you fill up with Reed's New Blu-Streak BIGGER GALLON Gas.

"Love-in-a-Mist." Presenting a splendid work for the success of "Fair and Warner" next week at the Erlanger theater, "Love-in-a-Mist" ends its current week's engagement at that theater with two performances today. There will be a matinee this afternoon at 2:30 and the final performance of the comedy tonight at 8:30. Midge Kennedy and Sidney Blackmer, who will take the leading parts in the second of the ten weeks' series of productions in the spring program, have captivated their Atlanta audience. Inasmuch as "Fair and Warner" was the vehicle which carried Miss Kennedy to her first big Broadway success, Atlantans are assured of seeing her at her best next week. In "Fair and Warner" Miss Kennedy and M. Blackmer will be supported by three splendid players in Miss Natalie Schafer, Walter Connolly and Peter Lang, who will make their first appearance of the season here.

Rialto.

"Evening Clothes." A story that moves from the bucolic scenes of the French countryside to the more hectic scenes of a tinselled Paris affords Adolphe Menjou his latest dramatic opportunity in "Evening Clothes," the feature closing today at the Rialto theater.

Next week the Rialto will show "Ankles Preferred," a comedy of the most modern type and "Along Came Auntie," a short subject. Marie Prevost is the star of "Ankles Preferred."

"The Unknown Cavalier." Being shown at the Tudor now is Ken Maynard's latest screen offering, "The Unknown Cavalier," with this star, who is a combination of Tom Mix, Douglas Fairbanks and is as handsome as John Barrymore, in the role of a dashing young man who walks into the greatest fight he'll ever had and emerges victorious over the bandit whom the whole country had learned to fear.

Keith's Georgia.

Vandeville and Pictures. Dorothy Kamdin and her company of jazz players and dancers close their engagement tonight at Keith's Georgia where they have been well received all week. Monday begins "N. V. A. Week" in Vandeville theaters throughout the country. Every house will have special features to commemorate the affair which is the annual drive for funds to care for the sick and needy and those too old to appear in public. Jack McAllen, at Keith's, will act as master of ceremonies.

Howard.

"Let It Rain." Douglas MacLean is at the Howard theater this week in his latest Paramount fun fest, "Let It Rain." Everybody remembers what a riot Doug was in "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave." He has done a uniform again, not as a doughboy, but as a fighting marine. This week's stage of the Howard, Murray Anderson's Public presentation, "The Book of Dreams."

MACKINAC ISLAND BECKONS COOLIDGE FOR SUMMER TERM

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—An invitation was extended to President Coolidge today to spend his summer on Mackinac island in northern Michigan.

Mr. Coolidge said he was very much interested in some place of that nature on receiving the invitation which was sent by Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, and the Michigan legislature.

A 700-acre estate on the island belonging to Mrs. A. E. Howe of Louisville, was said to be available for the summer for Mr. Coolidge.

Wheeler To Decide Course of McAdoo, Hinckley Charges

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—G. C. Hinckley, secretary of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, today charged that William G. McAdoo "appears to be going to quite unnecessary expense in touring the east and south to determine whether he will become a candidate for president in 1928."

"All that Mr. McAdoo needs to do is get an audience with Wayne R. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League," said Mr. Hinckley, adding that Wheeler "will not have forgotten the appeals of Mr. McAdoo for Anti-Saloon League help in 1924."

Hinckley included in his statement the text of a letter he said McAdoo, in April, 1924, sent to Howard H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League, "soliciting the aid of the league in its campaign against the liquor traffic."

Similar letters having been sent to other members of the league.

Red Men Tribes To Launch Drive To Boost Membership

Left, H. F. Stetser, of Philadelphia, Pa., great chief of national records, Improved Order of Red Men, who was a visitor in Atlanta Friday in the interest of a national membership drive to be launched May 1 by the organization, and R. C. McCall, Jr., of Atlanta, great sachem of Georgia.

A general council of eight local tribes, Improved Order of Red Men, met Friday night at Powhattan wigwam, Marietta and Ashby streets, to hear Herbert F. Stetser, of Philadelphia, Pa., great chief of records, discuss plans for a membership drive to be launched by the organization on the first of next month.

Mr. Stetser, who left for Birmingham immediately after the meeting Friday night in the course of a southern tour, was guest of honor earlier in the evening at a dinner at the Piedmont hotel, given by State Senator Walter C. Hendrix and attended by a group of Red Men officials from all over Georgia.

A state conference of officers was in session at the local headquarters of the order during Friday at which Mr. Stetser presided. C. C. Gillette, of Atlanta, was appointed director general for Georgia to supervise the membership drive in this section, it was announced.

COUNSEL IN LIBEL SUIT GROW WEARY

Detroit, April 15.—(AP)—A plan by which it was hoped to shorten the Ford-Sapiro $1,000,000 libel suit was being worked out by counsel during the week-end adjournment.

Attorneys were working with an accountant on books and records kept by Aaron Sapiro, plaintiff in the suit, during his 11 years of farm cooperative organization activities, with the idea of presenting the figures next week by agreement rather than by long drawn out process of proving each fact he received from the association.

Sapiro has stated that he received approximately $400,000 for his organization and legal work. Defense counsel in an effort to prove the plaintiff's motive in forming cooperative was other than altruistic, have announced that they will show he profited a million dollars. In line with this assertion they have conducted a colour examination of Sapiro regarding each fee from amounts totalling only a few dollars up to the thousands, Sapiro at adjournment of court Thursday had been on the witness stand 14 days and under the plan of examination previously used, indications were that he might be there for several weeks more.

Thursday's session was given over to an effort by Ford counsel to show that the majority of the directors of the Kentucky Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative association, organized by Sapiro, were warehousemen and not planters.

Senator James A. Reed, of Ford counsel, read a list of 22 directors of the cooperative. He asked the following: were not warehousemen:

Williams Simms, Christy Walters, James J. Cline, Frank Nunnally, John B. Winn, E. B. Gaines, Ralph Baker, J. H. Jones, J. D. Ashurst, Josh W. Allen, J. G. Craddock, R. Penn Taylor and William Collins.

"Sapiro's answer in each instance was that he was the host of the party, that they were primarily growers, but that as business men they may have been interested in warehouses. Nearly everybody in Kentucky was interested in warehouses, the witness added.

Money Halts Wedding Bells, Says General

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, Ill., April 15.—According to a survey just completed, there are at least 150 women in Chicago worth more than $1,000,000 each in her own right and of this number only 43 have husbands. Ninety-five are widows and 15 are "bachelor girls."

Discussing the situation, General Abel Davis, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, offered some reasons for the non-marriage of these highly desirable eligibles. General Davis fought in France and is not afraid to speak his mind.

"Give an intelligent woman a million dollars and you make the chances four to one she will not marry," he said. "Every man who hears she has money starts courting her—or so it appears to her, and she becomes, in a sense, a man-hater. She gets on in the habit of refusing offers of marriage that eventually she realizes the age when she does not want to marry for love."

Among the heiresses who are "bachelor girls" are Miss Muriel McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller; Miss Eleanor Donnelly, daughter of the multi-millionaire publisher; Grace Dixon, daughter of Arthur Dixon; Augusta Elizabeth Lehmman, Mabel Linn, Louise Perlick, Helen Gurley, Mary L. Newberry, Cornelia Gray Hunt, Nellie Carpenter, Emily Larnard, Kate S. Buckingham, Helen V. Drake, Elizabeth McCormack, Florence Spofford and Mary Virginia Dunham.

All these wealthy girls are engaged in some serious work and are quite too busy to bother with men.

Waycross Grows.

Waycross, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—The continued growth of Waycross is evidenced by the location of nine new businesses here since January 1. Further evidence is seen in the fact that permits have been issued for 62 new buildings, the majority of these being for residences that will be occupied by the owners.

DAPPER BANDITS IN BOLD HOLD-UP

Two youthful bandits, clad in natty spring suits, belted topcoats and grey slouch hats, relieved J. M. Lewis, of 1225 Virginia circle of $10, a gold watch and several valuable papers Friday night in front of a residence at 74 Todd avenue.

Sanctuarying along the sidewalk, the two gentlemen highwaymen, neither of whom appeared to be over 21 years of age, drew alongside of Lewis, flashed guns and casually ordered him to "reach high." Lewis told Call officers Eugene Head and George F. Barrett.

One of the youths was slender, about five-feet, nine inches tall and unusually cool. The other stood some five-feet seven, inclined to corpulence and wagged his gun nervously, the victim said.

Lewis would appreciate the return of the papers, he said.

Robert Roundtree, soda clerk in a drug store at 495 Stonewall street, peered down the muzzles of two automatic pistols, and saw nothing but two negroes behind the muzzles.

After emptying the cash register of $30 and a revolver, the negroes lowered the automatics and departed.

Roundtree related the incident to Motorcycle Officers R. F. Craig and G. W. Richardson.

Two robbers, described as "dudes," flashed pistols and took $27 in cash from D. B. Trammell, of 39 West Sixteenth street, while he was on his way home. The robbery took place near the intersection between Peachtree and West Peachtree.

John Simmons, grocer at 147 Butler street, dropped $25 to two negroes who flourished guns in his store.

Sylvester Stewart, of 222 Rock street, was short $24 after negroes covered him with pistols at Cain and Butler streets.

Pete Brown, proprietor of a lunch stand at 22 Houston street, contributed $15 to two negroes who levelled weapons at him.

Wired for Money In Name of Pal, Held for Fraud

Cellmate with Louis Horowitz for many months at the federal penitentiary, Danny Adams, 22, released Saturday from the prison, gaped his pal's mother of a considerable sum of money via the telephone wires, according to detectives.

Within the institution Adams became friendly with Horowitz, who was reputed to be wealthy. A wire for funds over the Western Union addressed to Mrs. Horowitz and signed "Your Loving Son" reaped a rich reward for the pretender Thursday, and he broke out in glad raiment to the tune of $100, detectives charge.

Not satisfied with the first haul, Danny tried the Postal Telegraph for another hundred; but his monetary reply came back to Atlanta over the Western Union where he was then held and sent for city detectives, the manager said.

Detectives Chester and Davis hid in the office and apprehended Friday night a young man who gave his name as Lewis Moon, of a Piedmont avenue address, who was said to have called for the money.

Detectives Chester, acting on a tip furnished by Moon, approached Adams who fled from an adjacent street corner and was overhauled after a stout footrace.

Grilled at headquarters, Adams admitted to the first telegraph, but denied all knowledge of the second, though the handwriting and mode of affectionate expression are identical in both, according to detectives. Both Moon and Adams were held at headquarters Friday night pending further investigation.

ANDAMAN WIDOWS FORCED TO WEAR HUSBAND'S SKULLS

San Francisco, April 15.—(AP)—A widow of the Isle of Andaman, off the coast of India, is not permitted by custom to forget her husband quickly for a new swim, said Miss Gertrude Emily Bannan, English globe-trotter, who passed through San Francisco today en route to Guatemala.

Miss Bannan said that in Andaman, when a husband dies his widow wears his skull on a chain for a year.

IOWA EDUCATOR

ALL AT MACON

Macon, Ga., April 15.—(AP)—Dr. Macy Campbell, professor of rural education in the State Teachers' college, Cedar Falls, Iowa, one of the noted educators appearing before the Georgia Education association's convention here this week, was found stricken with paralysis in his room at a local hotel this afternoon.

Dr. Campbell went from the educational meeting yesterday to Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville, last night, where he delivered an address. He returned to his hotel here late last night.

He was on the program at the educators' meeting here this morning but failed to appear. It was believed that he had failed to return from Milledgeville.

When he did not appear this afternoon a search was made for him and it was found that he was too ill to open his door or to answer a telephone. He was taken to a private hospital immediately.

Doctors stated that Dr. Campbell had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, and his condition is considered serious. Paralysis produced by the hemorrhage has affected his left side, it was announced.

Dr. Campbell is author of a book on "Rural Life at the Cross Roads," which has come into many editions.

He is secretary of the commission of which former Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, is chairman, to formulate plans for better rural conditions.

Crowds Inspect Power Company Atlanta Plants

More than 1,000 Atlantans attended the open house demonstration of the Georgia Power company Friday night when three of the company's major Atlanta properties were opened to public inspection.

The visitors, engineers, their families, technical students and those who were merely inquisitive about the operation of the plants which play such a big part in giving Atlanta street railway and electric power service, were first shown through the company's Fulton county plant, where street cars are built, repaired, painted and overhauled. The various steps in overhauling one of Atlanta's street cars were shown.

The guests were then escorted to the Boulevard electric substation, where the 110,000-volt power comes over the high-tension transmission lines from north Georgia, where it is generated in five big hydroelectric stations, and is "cooled" sufficiently to permit it to be put on the distribution lines to supply the city. The station is floodlighted and a fountain on which many colored lights are played gave the grounds the appearance of a well-kept park.

The beautiful new, automatic, noiseless Spring street electric substation was the final point of interest visited. At this station, without the attention of an operator, the alternating current is changed into direct current which is used by Atlanta's street cars.

The Georgia Power company band played at all points visited.

3 More Days Given Chaplin To File Reply

Los Angeles, April 15.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin was given three additional days by Superior Judge Walter Guerin today in which to answer the divorce complaint of Lita Grey Chaplin. As a result the film comedian will have until next Thursday to file his answer.

SPRING STREET OWNERS COMBINE ON IMPROVEMENTS

Organization of the Spring Street Improvement association was completed with a meeting of the property owners in the office of the real estate board, Friday afternoon.

Morris Brandon was elected president of the new association, Judge Shepard Bryan, vice president; Harry L. English, treasurer, and S. A. Massell, secretary. Those named as directors are J. T. Holloman, Marion Smith, M. M. Ewing, Fred W. Patterson and C. S. Carnes.

Initial improvements to be urged by the organization, as revealed in the discussion at the meeting, include the erection of whiteway lights, completion of sidewalks and construction of traffic signal lights at the intersections of Spring street and North avenue and Spring and Peachtree streets. The committee selected to determine the feasibility of these projects consists of Hugh Richardson, Jr., M. M. Ewing and C. S. Carnes.

Among the speakers at the organization meeting were Mrs. M. E. Powers, C. S. Carnes, S. A. Massell, J. T. Holloman, Marion Smith and Fred W. Patterson.

Atlanta Children To Celebrate Easter With Many Egg Hunts

With the advent of Easter Sunday, Atlanta's children begin today celebrating this glorious day with Easter egg hunts and rollings. Many beautiful terraces and lawns surrounding Atlanta homes will be the scenes of these frolicking affairs with children romping hither and yon searching for the brightly tinted eggs. Among the largest hunt announced for the afternoon is that at which Mrs. Charles Freeman will honor her little daughter and son, Nell Walker Freeman and Charles Freeman, Jr. This delightful party will be given on the spacious lawn of the Freeman home on Peachtree road, the guests to include 200 members of the very youngest members of society.

Mrs. Clarence Calhoun has invited a number of the younger set to an egg hunt this afternoon at her home on the North Decatur road, the occasion to honor her little son, Walter Woodward Calhoun.

The children at Fort McPherson will enjoy an egg rolling on the pictureque grounds at this interesting site, past this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Chaplain John Hall will be host of this merry occasion and the children from Camp Jessup, also the members of the post Sunday school, will take part in the affair.

Scheduled on today's calendar are many egg hunts to be given for sweet charity's sake. The First Methodist guild will entertain at a hunt at the home of Mrs. Preston Arkwright in Druid Hills; class No. 4 of the First Presbyterian church will give one on the lawn of Mrs. Frank Inman's home, circle No. 5 of St. Mark's Methodist church will sponsor a hunt in McClatchey's park in Ansley Park, the L. C. club will sponsor a hunt on the grounds of the Immaculate Conception academy at the corner of Washington street and Woodward avenue; the cradle roll department of the Second Baptist Sunday school will entertain at the home of Mrs. P. B. Gress in West End.

Booth No. 15 at the curb market will be the scene of the annual Easter sale held by the Crippled Children's hospital this morning. As the entire proceeds will be turned over to the hospital, the patronage of the public is earnestly solicited by the institution. Colored Easter eggs will be offered for sale. Among the other articles to be offered for sale are ornamented heath brooms, fly swatters, felt ornaments and novelties, baskets, letter and book racks, toy furniture, footstools and character dolls. Teachers from the school will be in charge of the sale, assisted by members of the board of managers.

Talmage-Wood Marriage Solemnized Friday in Athens

Athens, Ga., April 15.—The wedding of Miss Maude Elizabeth Talmage and Samuel Warden Wood took place Friday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Allen Talmage, in Athens. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by Dr. Stanley R. Grubb, pastor of the First Christian church, and witnessed by members of both families and a few close friends.

The bride couple were unattended and entered the room together, meeting the minister in front of the double windows at one end of the room where tall standards holding clusters of Easter lilies flanked the aisle. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Len Hill Talmage, of New York, who arrived on Thursday for the wedding.

The bride, one of the most beautiful girls in Athens, was lovely in her bridal gown of Worth blue Elizabeth crepe, the only trimming being of the material in graceful drapery down the left side in front and about the waistline, the soft folds caught at the waist with an ornament of brilliant pearls. Her hat was gray straw, adorned with ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Allen Hill Talmage, of New York; Miss Ella Glenn, of Sarasota, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris, of Valdosta, and Sam Worley, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood left for a wedding trip to North Carolina and will later go to Atlanta where Mr. Wood

Helen Shackelford, and freshman maid, Miss Jane Lewis. The friends of the Woodberry Hall students and faculty are invited. The affair is to be under the direction of Miss Doughty Manley, athlete director.

TO THE WOMEN OF ATLANTA BY

Sir Charles Higham

I asked the proprietors of M. Rich & Bros. Company if they would permit me to tell you, what I thought about their store, in this space today. They agreed.

I like Rich's. I have seen Department stores in nearly every important city in the world. I have seen the goods sold by Marshall Field in Chicago, Lord & Taylor in New York, Harrod's and Selfridges in London, The Galleries Lafayette in Paris, and I can tell you, without any qualification whatever that Rich's is one of the world's leading Dry Goods Stores. Its value is remarkable. In style, it is up to the minute. It is showing you the latest that Paris, London and New York offers at lower prices than I believed such things could be sold for. Atlanta women are fortunate in having Rich's. A charming store. Spacious and well lit. Goods displayed so that they can easily be seen. Efficient and extremely courteous employees. A variety of goods worth buying. Altogether a store for women who have to consider economy and yet be well dressed. No wonder they have grown so during the past half century. They deserved to.

Atlanta Firm Buys 500 Head of Prime Georgia Yearlings

Direct from the Georgia farm on which they were raised, 300 head of young beef cattle one year old and under, arrived in Atlanta Friday consigned to Regisale-Lawson and Wells, dealers, who purchased them. Said to be one of the largest and best single shipments of young cattle ever received here, the calves averaged in weight 550 pounds, or 165,000 pounds total for the lot. They were Shortorns and 1/2 Herefords and were purchased from E. E. Cotter company, of Millhaven, in Screven county. The shipment comprised seven car loads. The cattle were bought for distribution and will be reshipped to various other markets. The price paid was not disclosed but was said to be at the top of the market.

SALARY HIKE URGED FOR SMOKE INSPECTOR

Increase in the salary of A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector, of $50 monthly and favorable action on a proposal to change the meeting date of the sanitary committee of city council from Friday afternoon to Tuesday afternoon, were the subjects of a committee. Councilman Frank Reynolds presided.

The increase in Mr. Jones' salary, if it is approved Monday afternoon, would provide for a compensation at the rate of $150 monthly, his present income being $100.

WOMAN FAN FINED IN ROW AT GAME WITH POLICEMAN

Mrs. Clifford Flesman, of 160 East Fourth street, was fined $16 in recorder A. W. Callaway's police court Friday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct, and a case against her husband was dismissed. Mr. and Mrs. Flesman were given a copy of charges Thursday afternoon at Spiller Field by Policemen C. D. Holton.

According to a story by Mrs. Flesman, which was substantiated by her husband, they seated themselves on the bottom row of the bleacher stands in right field and Officer Holton elected to stand directly between them and a view of the catcher and pitcher. Mrs. Flesman, however, ignored her entreaties, whereupon Mrs. Flesman is said to have retaliated by slapping the officer across the thigh with a loose plank, which lay on the ground near by, it was reported.

Officer Holton stated the board had a nail in it and that he was stuck in the shoulder with something resembling a pin. The Flesmans deny the charge of the officer, it was reported.

Local School Tax Cannot Be Levied Without Election

Consolidation of three school districts in Laurens county into one where a local tax levy for support of the common schools is in effect does not automatically extend that tax levy into the other two former districts, the supreme court held today in reversing the decision of the Laurens superior court.

"The tax could not be levied and collected on property in the new district until authorized at an election duly called and authorized," the supreme court said.

Property owners in what was formerly known as the Old Evergreen and New Evergreen school districts failing in their efforts to suppress the tax collector from imposing a five-mill tax on their property for support of the new district, embracing Poplar Springs as well as the two Evergreen districts, carried their case to the supreme court.

of Hauley company. Interment will be in Lincoln Memorial park. Vesta Gordon was said to be one of the most faithful negro servants in the city and had many white friends for whom she had worked at various times. During the past eight years she had been a servant for Mrs. Rhodes and despite her failing health during the past few months had constantly attempted to continue her work at Mrs. Rhodes' home in every way possible. She was a native of Louisiana, Ga., but had lived practically all her life in Atlanta. She is survived by a son, L. W. Gordon.

LATERAL SEWERS ARE AUTHORIZED BY CITY COUNCIL

Installation of three stretches of lateral sewers was authorized Friday afternoon by the sewer committee of the city council, and the papers will be sent Monday to council for approval.

The committee also authorized extension of sewer connections of Ethel street from Hemphill to Center street, and voted favorably on a resolution providing a fund of $5,000 for perfection of detailed drawings and other preliminary matters relative to administration of funds authorized for sewer work in the 1926 bond issue.

Streets in which lateral sewers were authorized follow:

Cummings from near Gibson to Holtz law; Moughan from near Carter to Electric, and Eric from near Electric north to the sanitary trunk line. Councilman Wylie Moore, of the seventh ward, chairman, presided.

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

SYNOPSIS.
Sophy and Piers Tancred have lately taken the Villa Mona at Bordighera on the Italian Riviera. Alan Brooke, the sculptor, is living near by and that they are to meet at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and, since he constantly interrupts them and Sophy flies back to the Villa Mona in fear.

INSTALLMENT VI.

The Princess Makes a Mistake.
Piers was more impressed than he had expected to be, since he did not know that this royal suite had only been loaned to Willie. With an eye for harmonious effects, Mr. Moppet had scattered some of his own belongings about, volumes of poetry in exotic bindings, pictures—the inevitable Riviera water colors—and a few ornaments in the way of bronzes and Tanagra figurines.

Cocktails appeared with the accompaniment of olives, salted almonds and potato chips, and Piers began to scent agreeable possibilities in Bordighera apart from the Villa. Indeed, he seemed scarcely aware of Sophy's presence. As they awaited the arrival of the princess, Piers began to stalk the lion. He started the process crudely by suggesting a triviality, and then, struck him suddenly that it would be a good thing to have this man sculpt Sophy in one of the famous Italian marbles, and he blantly invited Alan Brooke to name his own price.

Sophy blushed crimson and even Willie Moppet's savoir faire was on the point of deserting him. He laughed disingenuously and said that for such a lovely subject as Mrs. Tancred the obligation would be entirely on his side. How that laugh hurt Sophy!

Fortunately at that moment there was warning of the princess' approach, which gave Willie Moppet something else to think about, and he darted out to welcome her.

Everything rustled gently at her entrance: the cocktails had been whisked away and a glass of sherry awaited her; Lilla extinguished her cigarette and Piers coughed and twiddled his diamond ring.

As soon as she set eyes upon the lean figure in tight corseted black satin with the dusty brown wig surrounding a face that for Piers was like a map, Sophy Tancred had sharp misgivings. The Princess Dohliert—that name suddenly had a familiar ring, a fact that for Piers was like a map, Sophy Tancred had sharp misgivings. The Princess Dohliert—that name suddenly had a familiar ring, a fact that for Piers was like a map, Sophy Tancred had sharp misgivings.

"Mr. Brooke!" The princess pounced upon him playfully and tapped him with a moulted feather fan. "Oh, you naughty man, Mr. Brooke! To think that you've never even called upon me, and we such near neighbors. It must be quite ten years ago. . . but surely you remember the Bonsons' studio parties and how we all predicted that one day you'd be famous?"

"You are very kind, princess," said Alan. "Of course, I remember and I do apologize for not calling, but until this moment I hadn't the least idea we were neighbors. There are so many of you Dohlierts, and I never dreamed of your ever tearing yourself away from Paris."

"Oh, well, I suppose I must forgive you. But I won't so easily forgive your pretty wife." And now it was Sophy who got tapped with the moulted fan. "Why haven't you been to see me, dear?" the princess wanted to know.

It was Piers who saved Sophy. He did it with a plunge which put to shame the butterfly hovers of Willie Moppet. Piers Tancred, with several ready cocktails inside him, as beginning to lose his critical faculties and he missed the sensation the old princess' mistake had caused. He roared with laughter, gave Alan Brooke a resounding thump between the shoulder blades, and very nearly gave the princess herself a poke in the ribs.

"That's a good un! Allow me, princess—my wife, Mrs. Tancred, not Mrs. Brooke. Ha, ha! A good un, that. Now then, Brooke, what about it? Where's your wife? What little piece of goods 've you got up your sleeve? I ain't spotted any doubles of Sophy running loose around this little old town or you can bet your boots I'd've made a memo of it."

The cure offered by Piers was almost as bad as the disease, drastic, in fact, but it had the effect of routing the bewildered old lady, who, flustered and twittered, apologized abjectly, and finally threw herself upon the protection of her host with a rebuking whisper: "But how was I to know? No doubt I'm behind the times, but I don't think it was quite nice of you, Willie, to ask me to meet both her husbands."

Lilla Brant took possession of Piers, smiling to show him that his elephantine flounders had injured nobody as yet, but that they mustn't be continued.

"You're making the poor princess uncomfortable," she suggested, whereat Piers would have done some apologizing on his own behalf, but dinner was announced at that crisis and the princess was swept away on Willie Moppet's arm. Lilla, of course, fell to Piers' portion, but the arrangement of the table made it necessary that the princess was on his other side and several people trembled at the possibilities of that proximity, since the old lady was gathering her courage and almost turned her back on him. No longer did she make any reference to her "mistake," but by her pointed silence of the subject, it was clear to Willie Moppet, at least, that she held to the belief she had so innocently voiced. When opportunity permitted she meant to give Mr. Moppet a decisive piece of her mind.

And Alan? Sophy dared not look at him and could scarcely bring her self even to murmur trivialities. For all that he smiled and spoke as though he was perfectly at ease, Sophy knew that inwardly he raged; that he was angry beyond expression with her for being the wife of Piers Tancred; that he hated himself for being where he was; that it took every ounce of self-control he possessed not to kick over the traces and make a spectacle of them both.

He devoted himself almost completely to Lilla, and the princess kept Willie Moppet in tight conversational grip to avoid her other neighbor, both the Tancred were left a little out of it. Piers did not specially mind, since food was coming on and he was not much good at talking while feeding, but Sophy looked pale and forlorn and Willie Moppet was hopelessly torn between the desire to come to her rescue and his inability to get a second's respite from the princess. It seemed impossible to dispel the gloom of the evening, and the princess, who was thinking of the peasant woman of the Casa Poverina, the woman who not only posed and cooked and scrubbed for Alan, but who was also his wife.

Piers forgot that he had intended to go to the casino after dinner. By the time the meal was over and there had been coffee and small talk on the terrace of the royal suite, he was impatiently ready to go home. The princess had deprived him even of Lilla, now, and he was free to observe how friendly Sophy was with the Moppet man. Alan Brooke put the distance of the terrace between himself and the others, and sat smoking moodily on the balcony.

So the evening passed and at a quarter to eleven the Princess Dohliert's carriage was announced, and without waiting for Sophy to take the initiative Piers said he guessed they'd better be going, too. He hustled her off or the heels of the old princess, whom he hoped to impress by a glimpse of his super car.

Lilla Brant, however, made no move. She said that Mr. Moppet would walk down with her to her room, and when Willie had seen the last of the others, including Alan—who also wanted a stroll—and returned to his borrowed salon, he found Lilla lighting another cigarette and settling down to enjoy herself as one citizen of the world in the company of another.

HE DISCLOSED, TO HIS ASSOCIATES, PART OF HIS PLANS WHICH WERE TO INTERCEPT THE TREASURE CARRIERS BETWEEN PANAMA AND MONTE DE DIOS. MEANWHILE, DRAKE SENT WORD TO HIS PARTNER, CAPTAIN ROUSE, OF THEIR FAILURE TO CAPTURE THE TREASURE. ROUSE ALARMED THAT THE SPANISH NOW KNEW OF THEIR PRESENCE, WANTED TO CANCEL THE PARTNERSHIP AND LEAVE THIS HE DID, AND DRAKE REMAINED TO FOLLOW OUT HIS PLANS. MEANTIME, DRAKE HAD RECONSIDERED THE SITUATION ABOUT THE TOWN OF CARTAGENA, A BIG SPANISH CITY ON THE MAIN LAND AND FOUND IT OPEN TO ASSAULT.

QUICKLY DRAKE SHIFTED HIS PLANS FOR THE CAPTURE OF CARTEGENA. AUGUST 13TH HIS FORCES STEALTHILY MOVED INTO CARTEGENA HARBOR. THE BUILDINGS OF THIS TOWN WERE RATHER SUBSTANTIAL AND IT WAS AN IMPORTANT PLACE IN ITS DAY, HAVING A GREAT TRADE WITH SPAIN AND PERU. AS THE ENGLISH FLEET CREPT INTO THE HARBOR, THEY FOUND A LONE SPANIARD ON BOARD A VESSEL, AND FROM HIM LEARNED THAT NEWS OF THEIR COMING HAD REACHED CARTEGENA. A GREAT SHIP LAY AT ANCHOR NOT FAR DISTANT. KNOWING FURTHER CONCEALMENT WAS USELESS, THEY MADE STRAIGHT AT THE BIG VESSEL AND BOARDED IT. A SAVAGE FIGHT FOLLOWED, BUT THE ENGLISH DROVE THE SPANIARDS BELOW AND TOWED THE VESSEL OUT IN PLAIN VIEW OF THE CITY WHICH WAS NOW FULLY ALARMED. DURING THE NIGHT DRAKE CAPTURED TWO MORE VESSELS. THE SITUATION HAD NOW SHIFTED SO THAT HE DARED NOT ATTACK THE CITY UNTIL A MORE FAVORABLE TIME. HE DECIDED THEN TO PRETEND TO WITHDRAW. HE SAILED TO THE SAN BERNARDO ISLANDS AND CAME TO ANCHOR. DRAKE'S DARING AND HIS RESOURCEFULNESS AMAZED THE SPANIARDS AND HIS REPUTATION DREW THROUGHOUT ALL THE SPANISH DOMAIN.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE SUCCESS OF THE EXPEDITION AGAINST PORT ROYAL AND THE NEED OF ANOTHER BASE OF MILITARY AND NAVAL OPERATIONS ON THE ATLANTIC COAST OF THE CONFEDERACY LED THE FEDERALS TO SEND GUNBOATS AND TROOPS TO SEIZE TYBEE ISLAND AT THE MOUTH OF THE SAVANNAH RIVER.

ON NOVEMBER 24, 1861, FEDERAL TROOPS LANDED AND TOOK POSSESSION OF TYBEE ISLAND. THEY FOUND IT UNDEFENDED AS, AT THE APPROACH OF THE UNION FLEET, THE CONFEDERATES HAD EVACUATED THE PLACE AFTER BURNING THE LIGHTHOUSE AND BARRACKS.

Occupation of Tybee Island.

THE NEWS OF THE OCCUPATION OF TYBEE ISLAND BY THE FEDERALS CAUSED WILD EXCITEMENT IN SAVANNAH. BELIEVING THAT UNION GUNBOATS WOULD SOON BE SHELLING THE CITY, HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE, WITH ALL THEIR BELONGINGS, SOUGHT SAFETY IN FLIGHT.

BUT THE FEDERAL GUNBOATS FOUND THE APPROACH TO THE SAVANNAH RIVER BLOCKED BY FORT PULASKI. THE CONFEDERATE STRONGHOLD ON COCKSPUR ISLAND IN TYBEE ROADS, AND THE THREATENED ATTACK WAS DELAYED WHILE THE UNION FORCES BEGAN ERECTING BATTERIES WITH WHICH TO REDUCE THE FORTS.
